KILLED PLAYING BANDITS.

Two boys were killed and another's arm was broken yesterday when the roof of a cave they were digging in the sand banks along Walworth run near Cleveland, Ohio, collapsed. The boys started out to play bandits. "Let's dig a cave to store the treasure in," said one. They took a rusty pick and shovel and made an excavation. The cave was almost complete. Then the roof gave way. A woman saw the accident. She summoned a policeman. Nearby workmen helped to dig the boys out. One lad was dead and another so badly injured he died five minutes af-

Mr. Griscom was in conference during the better part of the day with prominent republicans of the state. After carefully considering the situation the conference gained the conviction that they could depend upon at least 650 of the 1,015 delegates and issued a formal statement to the effect that they would not only present Mr. Roosevelt's name for temporary chairman of the convention but do their utmost to have a direct nomination plank inserted in the platform.
